BUSY WEEK IN CYCLE CIRCLES

Both Salt Lake and Ogden Tracks Have Successful Meets—The Winnings.

The weather man has been kind to the cycle fans the past week and Salt Lake got away with its two regular meets and Ogden with its one regular meet. The CI. wis at . three meets were all that. could be desired and the prometers, riders and rans are correspondingly happy
Frank Kramer was easily the star of the week, with his protect, la 6.2 Clarke, a close second. In fact, the speed of Clarke is practically unknown, but if he remains under the guiding hand of Kramer, he will in all probability take the champion's place in the cycling world.

Floyd McFarland made his appearance at the local track for the first time this week, but could do no better than third in the races where Clarke and Kramer started. Iver Lawson rode Tuesday night, but not Friday, but his work in the single meet clearly indicates that at present he must take a place with the also rans. Ernie Pye, the Australian, is going faster at each meet and his friends would be glad to see him take a place alongside his countryman, Clarke. Wilcox is showing great form and is fighting the best of them in every meet. Billy Samuelson, them in every meet. Billy Samuelson, who always has had a large following at the saucer track, is back in harness again and will now have a chance to prove to his friends that he is as good as ever. The standings and winnings of the riders at both the Ogden and Salt Lake tracks are given below and make interest-ing reading. At the Salt Lake track Clarke heads the list of winners, with Kramer a close second. This pair have won ten out of the twelve apair races of the season. Here is what each rider has done since the season opened.

BOXING BOUT FOR MURRAY

Mantell and Martin Judge Matched for Fifteen Rounds on July 4.

The town of Murray is preparing for a big celebration on July 4, and will pull off a little of everything in the sporting line. One of the events will be a fifteen-round boxing contest between Frank Mantell and Martin Judge. Mantell is the man who was matched to fight Morgan Williams at Park City, but the match was called off. Judge is an old-timer at the fighting game, having cut an important fig-. ure in the welter and lightweight division several years ago.

Two baseball games have been scheduled for this date. The Murray team will play both the Soldiers and Draper in the afternoon, each game going seven innings. In the forenoon immediately after the parade there will be a number of old-time Fourth of July sports, including foot races and climbng a greased pole, and all such events. The town of Murray intends to make this a gala day for the southern part of the county.

OGDEN BIKE RACES.

Samuelson Will Go After Mile Paced Record Tomorrow Night.

Harry Heagren has announced the program for the meet at Ogden tomorrow night. One of the features of the meet will be a mile motor-paced record trial by W. E. Samuelson. The Provo man is going some this season behind his brother's motor, and believes he can lower this mark.

A three-quarter mile handicap and a three-mile lap will keep the professionals, guessing to get the coin, and quarter-mile open amateur and a two-mile handicap amateur are on the bill slated for the simon pures. As usual, a special train will leave Salt Lake at 6:30, and return immediately

ED AND TOM GET TILEING LENGTH SOME COLD FEET

Bingham Says About These Famous Horsemen.

(Special to The Herald.)

Bingham, June 22.-"The Bingham bunch that has just returned from Provo feel that the outing was not the success that it might have been, and the disanpointment was due to the cold feet proclivities shown by the Provo racing contingent, headed by Ed Loose and Tom McCoy," says Dr. Woodring, of Bingham. "It is due mainly to these two men that there was nothing doing in the race line," says the doctor. "The conditions were all favorable and, to the minds of the Bingham horse owners there was not the Bingham horse owners the Bingham h were all favorable and, to the minds of the Bingham horse owners there was no reason that the race should not have been pulled off. The track was in excellent condition, but McCoy said it was 'slick.' The weather was fair, but Loose said it was going to rain, and that his Ginger horse is a dry weather horse, and that he would not take any chances. Dr. Woodring, the owner of Kangaroo, said that he was ready to go on with Kangaroo and race the tails off the McCoy and Loose horses. Dr. Woodring is of the opilnon that it was not the weather, but Kangaroo, that Loose was afraid of. The Bingham horsemen cannot speak too Bingham horsemen cannot speak too highly of Mr. Roberts, of the Roberts ho-tel, and Mr. John Farrer, to whom its was due that the $500 free for all was was due that the $500 free for all was such a success last year, and they give them due credit for that event, and also want to say that the Spanish Fork sports are there with the coin and will go through whether it sprinkles or not. Dick Watkins made the man who owns Consuelo take the Sanpete train tonight for Salt Lake City. Altogether there is a good chance to try out the merits of Kangaroo and Ginger if Loose can rake up the coin."

LOGAN MAN WANTS THE TEN

Five Pounders and Bigger Grow Frequently in Cache County.

(Special to The Herald.) Logan, June 22.-Lewis Petersen, a youth of this city, captured a five and one-half pound trout on Thursday while fishing in Logan river, and he wants to know how and where to get that $10 prize offered by some Salt Lake sportsmen for five-pound trout. It is suggested that if these gentlemen really want to keep tab on the fivepounders caught in Utah streams they should appoint some one in the different localities where there are fine trout streams to weigh and receive the fish for them. Last fall, for instance, Charles Petersen caught a seven-pound trout in Logan river, and like the one caught Thursday it was exhibited in a window on Main street, but he couldn't afford to lug it down to Zion for a $10 prize.

Evidently Coffroth Intends to Control Big Fights of the Country.

San Francisco, June 22.-The open air stadium at Colma, in which "Bill" Squires and Tommy Burns will meet in their forty-five round contest for the heavy-weight championship of the world, is intended to be a permanent structure in which other fights may be conducted. In fixing its capacity at nearly 10,000, Promoter Jim Coffroth had in mind the attendance of 10.101 at the Jeffries-Corbett bout and 8.991 at the Britt-Nelson fight. The com-ing contest between the big fellows is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock p. m. on

W. E. SAMUELSON, THE PRIDE OF PROVO.

Cycle fans of Salt Lake will be pleased to learn that W. E. Samuelson, the unpaced king, is back in the game again, and from now on will be a fixture at the saucer track. Samuelson made his first appearance this season last Friday night, and while he did not win, it was his powerful pacing that put the Clarke-Kramer combination to the bad and gave the race to Pye. As the race was under record time, it gives some idea of how fast Samuelson must have been going. Samuelson intends to devote a great part of his time to following pace this season. Last year Samuelson closed the season by riding five miles away under the former record, and placing the mark at a figure many predict will be hard to break. Samuelson's unpaced riding has been one of the features of the track for the past several years. His work for the next couple of meets, while his is getting into condition, will be watched with interest.

This week he was matched with Billy Finucane for the July 4 date in Ogden, and a fast bout is promised. Sholes and Finucane are now both residents of Ogden and there is quite a local rivalry between the two men. The Ogden fans have seen the boys work out in training with each other and at these times it seemed an even break as to which was the best man. The bout is bound to attract considerable at tention from the Salt Lake fight fans.

ORATION; THE MERITS AND DEMERITS OF BOXING

With Apologies to Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar." BY SAMUEL MEYER.

(Buffalo Times.)
Friends, supporters of Fistiana, lend me your ears: My plea is to those who foster this sport, Not to those who seek to suppress it. The evil that men do, lives after them;
The good is prated o'er in the Hall of Fame;
But not so with Fistiana. The angry public,
Aggrieved o'er the recent O'Brien-Burns fiasco, Coupled with impositions of bygone days,
Hath evoked the law, whose ev'ry adherent sayeth,
"Boxing shall thrive no more." Aye, here's the rub;
For Fistiana is a profession, and like all others,
Hath its faithful and unfaithful followers.

Boxing, my friends, is a martyred sport, it has suffered much,

Boxing, my friends, is a martyred sport, it has suffered much, if its death knell is sounded.

'Twill not be thro' the efforts of would-be reformers;
Nor for the lack of public support;
But thro' incompetent, unscrupulous fighters, referees and manager.
And should this latest outrage kill Fistiana?
Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, alleged champion (if he's such today?)
Then, boxing should be represented by better men.
Truly, there are knaves in every profession;
Yet its challeged champion?

Truly, there are knaves in every profession;
Yet is this cause for its condemnation?
Ye all know that the great John L. Sullivan,
Jack Dempsey, Jim Jeffries and Frank Erne did much
To keep Fistiana clean and above board. Most likely for them
'Twas easier, and more profitable, to win a battle honestly.
Than to lose dishonestly. Honest fighting was their creed,
And the names on the roll of dishonor! They need no mention;
Their duplicity has spoken volumes for them,
O. lovers of the manly art, ye who look for honest bouts.
Look not to the great ring stars, except, in rare instances.
Then, for bruised features, from honest blows,
From the call of time to the clang of the last gong;
Cast your eyes toward the awkward sluggers in preliminaries,
For here reigns honestly, be the purses ever so small.

Rumor sayeth boxing is brutal, Medic's say 'tis healthful.
And statistics show 'tis both. Many a man carries concealed weapons;
Thereby violating the law, and encouraging crime.
Would they resort to this method of protection.
If they had been taught the manly art of self defense?
For years this sport was held in reverence;
During which time it was represented by honorable men.
And now that it has been perverted, and in its last hours,
With its death warrant signed by the press,

UMPIRE IS REAL THING SAYS SILK

BY FRANK "SILK" O'LAUGHLIN.

Umpiring is a business, and it has been mine for twelve years, during which time I naturally have had some very queer experiences. If I have attained any success as an "arbitrator" it is because I have put my mind down to my work and given it just as much of my time and thought as have been given in other lines and professions. I believe that the umpire is just as much of a feature at a ball game as are the players. More depends upon him, and he should realize this fact when he steps upon the field. It has always been my idea to let the public and the players know that the umpire is the real thing. He should create this impression when he walks on the field and impress it upon every one's mind as the game progresses.

I have made it a study to give the public all that is coming to them from the umpire. The people in the stands are entitled to know what decisions I render, and I try to make this plain both by signals of the hands and arms and also by the peculiar manner of announcing balls and strikes.

I draw out strikes as long as possiso that they can be easily distin- . guiched from the balls. I never say two because that is sometimes misunderstood, while "tuh" is never mistaken for anything else.

One of the first things an umpire should learn is to get as near every play as possible. Move about and make the players do the same thing. Put action into your work and the players will follow suit. There is nothing more tiresome than a draggy game of ball, and the umpire can make it draggy if he is so disposed. I make the players hustle and I have never yet found a player who did not want to get through a game as quickly as possible.

Umpires sometimes make trouble for themselves by allowing the game to get out of their hands. Hold the players in check and you will never have any trouble with them. I started to unipire when I was but 20 years old, and I have been at it ever since. Umpiring is not always pleasant, but I like my work.

gross receipts. In all probability the fight will take place in Preston. It was the intention to make it a feature of the celebration here on the Fourth, but Mayor Robinson sat down on the proposition as soon as it was passed up to him, so the scrap will likely go to Preston.

It is but fair that the fight fans of Preston should know the men who are to meet in their town. Danforth is well known in that locality, but evidently Kid Bernstein is not. Among the Salt Lake, Ogden, Murray and Bingham fight fans who have seen him in action, he is considered the most pronounced dub that ever crawled be-
